

It is intense training

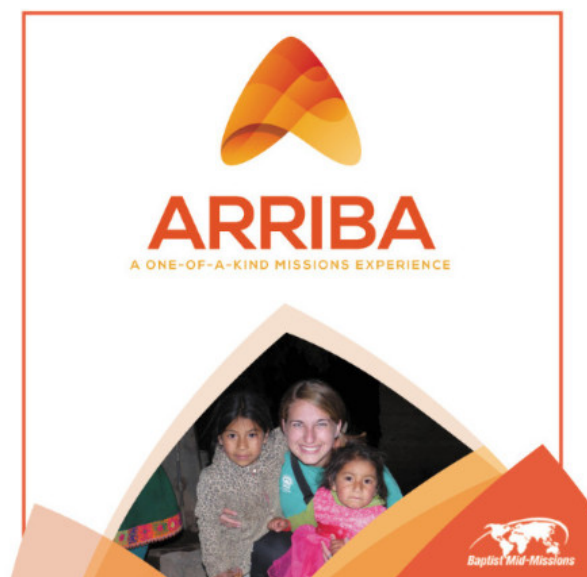

Each day is filled with sessions training you on important matters from carrying out deputation to understanding missionary finances. Many of those are, followed by “lab time,” where you will start making the training your own. For, example, we’ll encourage you to sketch out a prayer card design that can serve, as a template for the final product. The time is intensive, because we want you, to leave Cleveland having all you need to get started on deputation as soon as possible with momentum and confidence. However, we also recognize this is, just the beginning, so we don’t give you everything you’ll ever need to know, about being a missionary. We’ll save some for Launch Seminar, a four-day, training time you will attend after you reach 75-percent support.

Getting started is often the hardest step in any endeavor. It is our desire to help you begin your missionary career with a warm welcome, a full toolbox, and an, invigorated passion.
